London 8th.

Turkey has sent a circular to the Powers protesting against the treaty between France and Tunis. The Porte insists on his Sovereignty over the Principality.

Rome 19th.

Here and all over Italy, especially in the large cities, there is great excitement at the eventual triumph of the policy of the Right, and specially against Signor Sella, who has not yet been able to form a Cabinet, and the King refuses to dissolve Parliament.

BEACONSFIELD.

After prolonged vicissitudes of hope and apprehension, during which the whole nation, it may be said, has hung upon the medical reports issuing from his sick-room, Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, has passed away. At an early hour yesterday morning he expired, peacefully and painlessly breathing his last, among devoted friends, and faithful physicians who had combated his maladies with success, but could not restore the failing strength of age, or replenish the exhausted lamp of life. Thus departs from ever from this mortal scene the famous and brilliant Englishman, the unmatched politician, the consummate master of oratory, the ingenious and fascinating man of letters, and the renowned statesman whose record must and will remain to latest times a part and a parcel of British history. For many days past this mournful termination to the illness of Lord Beaconsfield had become only too probable; yet the calmness and courage of the noble patient were so well known, and his frequent rallies had awakened so much hopefulness, that the end arrived at last with a certain shock of surprise for the public, who had forgotten, or hardly noticed, how the weight of his years told against the advantages of his cheerfulness, resolution and original excellence of physique. Lord Beaconsfield sustained the burdens and infirmities of age, as he bore other inevitable troubles in life, with a gay placidity of heart and mind and a freshness of spirit making even his intimate associates sometimes lose sight of that which he himself took so lightly. Yet it was at a period beyond our allotted human span, and after a career of intellectual activity positively marvellous for its toils and triumphs, its tenacity of effort and its prodigious endurance, that this strong spirit has at length quitted the tenement of clay. None ever 'lived out his life' more completely than the departed statesman, and this without in any sense surviving himself. It is reported, and all will rejoice at the tidings, that Lord Beaconsfield retained almost to the close a full possession of his faculties, falling at last into the sleep of death with perfect composure of body and mind, aided no doubt even in that supreme hour by the deep patience and innate piety of his nature. But, though we may recall his advanced age and consummated career; though we may feel that life could keep no greater honors for him, and that the shadow of death must have been welcome as bringing a gentle and deserved rest, yet no such considerations can diminish the general sense of loss, or make it easier to think of English political scenes and struggles continuing, with his familiar figure removed. How shall we know ourselves, the Parliament, the country and the course of affairs with this great voice silent, this paramount presence absent, this influence for ever withdrawn, alike from the side of friends and from the face of antagonists? It will be much more than if the stateliest tree in a forest had fallen, or the noblest column of a temple had been overthrown. The beauty of the woodland may be renewed, and what has once been reared by the hand of man can be rebuilt; but we are all grieving to-day over that eternal farewell which a gifted and superlative spirit takes of its epoch, when its work is done and its time has arrived, and when no nations' need, 'no cry of friend nor clamour of foe' can win again from its power and patriotism one word of counsel or one deed of further service. We think that this feeling of bereavement—of positive personal lack and loss—will be experienced throughout the Realm upon news of the death of the Earl of Beaconsfield by the vast majority of Englishmen and Englishwomen, as heavily and deeply as though each had lost a friend or relative. To all who enjoyed the privilege of his personal acquaintance, from the Queen on the Throne, who laments 'a most valued and devoted friend and counsellor,' to the youngest of those political associates upon whom he was never weary of lavishing generous encouragement, such a demise is, of course, a sharp calamity. But the countless thousands of his fellow-countrymen who knew him only in affairs, in public life, in books, in speeches, and in newspapers—these also, in a sense, were of his constant company, and these will be among his true and faithful mourners, knowing how he loved England, and how he served her, doing his political duty.

History will pronounce Lord Beaconsfield 'happy in the opportunity of his death,' since he lived long enough to give lasting and undoubted proof of that same deep love and steadfast pride which he always felt for the land of his birth. Already Premier of England in 1868, his ambition might have been satisfied by having attained that far goal; but the events of his second Premiership—to which we only make passing allusion—displayed in him the profounder impulses of his political nature, which were to uphold and magnify the greatness and glory of Britain abroad, and to protect her at home from wild and premature changes, dangerous not less to her Imperial destinies than to that ordered freedom which he loved, honoured, and promoted. He did so love and honour it. Writing of the early migration of his family from Venice and Valencia, he speaks of them as 'seeking greater blessings than even a clear atmosphere and a glowing sun'—by which he meant the liberty of our English soil and the unquestioned rights of conscience established here. Of those liberties and rights he was himself a noble monument, and the elevation of Benjamin Disraeli from his obscure place of birth in Blooms bury to the foremost post beneath the Sceptre of England is in itself at once a tribute to the fair play shown to genius among us, and a romance of political life more wonderful and enthralling than any table of fiction planned by its actual hero. It is doubtful if in after-times posterity will be able to gauge and appreciate as we can the matchless qualities, the marvellous resolves, the perfect self-control, the dauntless fortitude, the unbending will, the endurance, the vigilance, the firm temper, and the fine spirit which combined to render possible that prodigious conquest which Lord Beaconsfield made of his times his rivals, and his opponents. Other men, great by nature, not by birth, have risen and will hereafter rise to 'sway the rod of Empire;' and these might be, perhaps, erroneously likened to Lord Beaconsfield. His contemporaries know best how unique and wholly special have been the circumstances of that long, unfaltering, fearless, and pre-determined ascent by which, pitting his genius against a thousand all but insuperable obstacles, the youthful novelist set himself to become the chief of an intensely aristocratic party, and, through them and for them, the Ruler of England. This stupendous task he so accomplished that all men have now long known him equal and more than equal to the destiny he arrogated—the most trusted counsellor of his Sovereign, the indispensable leader of the Lords and landed gentlemen, and raised at last to their order by an act of fitness rather than mere favour, which signalised the gifts it could never ennoble, and gave to the Peerage and to the Garter more honour than the new made Earl could derive from rank or badge. It has been, we say, a high credit to the institutions and spirit of the land that this career should have been consummated; but how much higher was the credit to that indomitable nature which, from the lowly beginnings, knew it feasible, and—sure of its own capacities—made this proud and lofty ambition its life-task! Only the envious and petty will speak of such a sustained and prodigious effort of self-advancement as selfish or unworthy. 'Be of your age' is a maxim which the wisest obey. We belong, all of us, to our age, and must find some way to serve it if we would justify existence: nor are those the least noble or self-sacrificing who, fired by conscious powers, devote themselves to the immense labours and preparations which public service demands. Lord Beaconsfield, after all, did more for England than England could do for him, splendid as was in the end her recognition of him, and universal the national affection which has followed disparagement and satire. The more his biographers may dwell upon the passionless character of his convictions, the persiflage and indifferentism of some of his views, the more signal it will seem that, of all things worth striving for, the command of men and of affairs in the England of Victoria appeared to this cool and balanced intellect the best and highest object of struggle, and that of all roles in the human theatre Lord Beaconsfield selected to play that which has made the whole Empire mourn him to-day as a friend of all Englishmen, and the enemy only of their enemies. To this proud and difficult part he brought special gifts, which will be best valued and understood when they are most missed in debate, in policy, and in counsel. He, more than any living rival, illuminated dry business with the light of fancy and the grace of wit, and supported the splendid traditions of our English Senate by unfailing dignity of bearing and chivalrous courtesies of phrase and manner, which did not forbid the bright play of his sarcasm, nor rob him of his right to answer bitter assaults with the rapier-like flash of his epigram. It is said he was 'no great legislator,' yet he controlled legislators; and he taught patience and organisation to intemperate politicians. Comprehending our English annals more clearly because he lived above and outside them, his influence has a hundred times wrought benefit to the country, and would have proved priceless to it in the days which are impending. That neither Lord Beaconsfield's own followers nor his countrymen, nor his Sovereign can ever again profit by the quiet searching eyes, the sententious lips, the gentle smile, and sudden wisdom of unexpected speech which were his characteristics, brings home not alone to those who knew him the pathos and solemnity of the words 'No more.'

As it is too late to look again for counsel to Lord Beaconsfield's vast capacity and knowledge of affairs, so it is too soon to attempt any just delineation of his place in British history. The biographies which will throng public places, and the wistful elegies which will be pronounced in the Houses of Parliament, can but deal lightly and quickly with some of the most striking features of those forty years during which he has been a 'name among men.' The final verdict upon his life and character must be pronounced by voices more removed from the strife in which he shared; but, when it is heard, we believe that even a higher rank will be awarded in the hierarchy of genius and politics to the dead statesman than some would now expect. He had overlived many prejudices, but not all, and to the last it was a kind of fashion to misconstrue more than one great quality in his character. He talked less than some among his rivals about the superior loftiness of his motives, and was consequently reproached with 'expediency.' He knew the value of external signs and symbols, and was therefore thought to live for show. He was an orator of the most careful and cultured school, and was accordingly arraigned as seldom speaking from his heart. His books—the half-serious amusements of a mind which could not be idle—were regarded as the last expressions of an intellect of which they were rather the offshoots; and, finally, there were some who could never forgive him for not being angry and never ruffling under defeat. An age, however, which studies his speeches and policies without personal prepossessions, will call him in debate the most polished and high-bred, in Parliamentary combat the most gallant, in party counsel the adroitest and most resourceful, and in ultimate schemes of State the most far-seeing statesman of his time. There will ensue, we believe, a remarkable reaction of public attachment to the memory of Lord Beaconsfield. It may be that, in times soon to arrive, the greatness, nay, even the safety, of England may be challenged amid events of a vast and violent nature, and vain lamentations may be heard over more than one step taken falsely, though with admirable intentions. Then will arise a yearning recollection of this man, who loved the English land and people, and took pride in them, because he knew their noble qualities and foresaw the boundlessness of their possible destinies. Then will be felt the deep, albeit idle, longing for one more day of him who had the courage and the will to speak at need in the language of Pitt and Palmerston, and during whose administration those that envy England or plot against her withheld their advances towards her borders, and attempted no outbreaks against her authority. People will say of Benjamin Disraeli in those days that if Great Britain gave freedom and a fair career and honours without stint to his name and line, he gave her in return dignity abroad and strong order and legality at home, augmenting, not diminishing, her Imperial dominions, and enhancing the lustre of the Monarchy, while he endeared it to the population. The grace of his personality, the generosity of his friendships, the unbroken sweetness of his temper, the bright corruscations of his wit will add traits of pleasantness to the picture thus drawn of him by a nation's recollection, and perhaps, indeed, he may serve his country yet, by the example and lesson of his latest years. For himself there has come at length rest from labour—not less prodigious labour for having been so lightly borne—there has arrived a peace unto all time, 'full of the stately repose and the lordly delight of the dead.' At such a moment the thoughts of Englishmen will naturally turn to the one spot where his mortal remains can find company worthy of his grand characteristics and his love of England and her story. There can be no doubt that the whole nation would heartily approve the generous desire of the Premier to honor his old and admired rival with a public funeral and a grave in Westminster Abbey. The wishes of the dead must, however, be respected, and if it be the case that in his latest will, made three years ago, he expressed an earnest wish to be laid quietly, to rest in his own tranquil home of Hughenden, where he had passed so many happy years, and which holds the remains of her whom he once called 'the best wife in England,' the devoted friends whom he has constituted his executors will doubtless feel he has constrained to obey his injunctions. No decision, as yet, has been formed on this point; but wherever the grave of Benjamin Disraeli may be, no tomb more illustrious will be found, or one which can teach better the lesson of his own motto, that 'Nothing is difficult to a brave man.'

THE NATIONAL ACADEMY.

The magazine of the National Academy of Cordoba is full of interesting matters, referring to science: strange to say over three-quarters of this valuable magazine are in French, the remainder in Spanish. The fact points to the great majority of the foreign element in the scientific atmosphere of the Republic. This singularity is invaluable, as the contents of the publication will be understood in all parts of the civilized world. The contents are most important and will no doubt also be interesting to the general bulk of readers.

Mr P A Conil has a long description in French on the 'Nouveaux cas de Myiasis dans la Province de Cordoba et dans la Republique de Venezuela.' Our fair readers would shudder if they perused the pages, referring to two young Cordobese girls afflicted by this terrible malady—one died, but the other survived. A fly, which Mr Conil scientifically calls a 'Calliphore anthropophage,' entered their nasal organs and deposed eggs in the pituitary membrane. The progress and cure of the disease, the sufferings of the victims and the development of the fatal eggs, are scientific matters of the greatest moment, which we leave to the medical columns of a magazine. People should beware when they sleep out of doors, keep their mouth firmly closed, and both nose and ears well stopped with cotton to prevent the introduction of any insect. Happily the fly in question does not abound here, and is to be found only in some Interior Provinces, in the Republic of Venezuela, and the unhealthy climate of Guiana.

Next comes an important description in Spanish of the Flora in the Southern territories, under the heading 'Sertum Patagonicum.' Here botany reigns supreme, and we much fear our readers care very little about dicotiledons or acrogens, so the least said in the columns of a newspaper about so varied a subject the better.

The irrepressible locusts have a separate and very long chapter to themselves by P A Conil. The history of these destructive insects is linked to great misfortunes, and therefore most interesting, as it takes us back to the infancy of humanity. In the very remotest antiquity, men knew, to their cost, the locust plague. The tenth chapter of the Exodus in the Pentateuch describes how the locusts devoured all vegetation in Egypt, and how a strong wind blew them all into the Red Sea. The Hebrews used to feed on them, whilst their great powers of multiplication were admired. The Israelites tried to get rid of them by shaking the trees to make them fly or fall; they used to heap them up and bury them when on the ground.

Aristotele in one of his works refers to locusts, whilst the older Pliny states that in the island of Lemnos (to-day Lemnoos Stalimare) every man was obliged by law to deposit before the magistrates a certain quantity of dead locusts. Saint Jerome was terrified when he saw the wholesale destruction made by these terrible invaders in Syria. Mouffett states that in 591 the crops in Italy were destroyed by locusts, and in Venice 30,000 people died of hunger.

Many historians and naturalists note the invasions of locusts: amongst many we may refer to Jean Thurnmacher, Mezeray, Orelius Virey, Jackson, Barrow, Levaillant, &c. In 170 before Christ Capua was invaded and all the crops were destroyed: the same catastrophe occurred in 189 in Italy and Gaul: in 852 in Bohemia: in 885 in Gaul again: 1040 in Spain: in 1542 in Hungary: in 1600 and in 1690 in Russia: in Wallachia and Moldavia in 1747 and 1748: in 1749 in a great many parts of Europe. Charles XII. of Sweden, after the defeat of Pultawa, had to suspend the march of his army, owing to the arrival of a cloud of locusts, which blinded both men and horses. In Transsylvania the troops were called out in 1780 to fight the locusts.

In 1797 locusts settled in the South of Africa, where a strong wind blew them into the sea, but the waves rolled the dead insects in billions on the coasts in a putrid state, and the stench was such that it pervaded the country 140 miles away from the coast.

The fear the people entertained against locusts arose not only from the threatening spectre of famine, but also from the ensuing epidemics that followed in their tracks. St. Augustin says that 800,000 people died on the North coast of Africa, by the infection spread and arising from the putrified locusts on the coast. Argentines also know by bitter experience the evils that accompany locusts, and in the Santa Fe colonies their reminiscenses are yet fresh.

Mr Oscar Doering has an important chapter on the study of barometrical height in the Argentine Republic, and the magazine ends with a list of books and their authors' names, acquired by the Academy's library during the last year. Books have poured in from all European countries, which is the very best proof of the value of the Institution in the eyes of the scientific world.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Magellan has brought full accounts of the last moments of Lord Beaconsfield and the obituary notices of the home papers. The superb article of the Daily Telegraph, to which we surrender our leading columns to day, fully justifies our hesitation in dealing with a subject which, we full well knew, would be so much better handled by our London contemporaries. In reference to the beautiful stanzas on the deceased statesman which appeared in yesterday's issue, we are commissioned on all hands to warmly congratulate the gifted author, which we most cordially do. It is a chaste, beautiful production, and every Englishman, Liberal or Tory, endorses its letter and spirit.

There is nothing specially new in the latest papers to hand, the English, Continental and N. American press being all filled with the sad event of last month. All agree that, 'take him for all and all we ne'er shall look upon his like again.' Mr Gladstone was anxious that his great rival's remains should have public honours and a tomb in Westminster Abbey; but the Earl's will, made three years ago, explicitly orders his remains to be laid quietly at Hughenden, by the side of her whom he once publicly declared was 'the best wife in England.'

The project to extend the Western Railway from Pergamino to a point of junction with the Central Argentine Railway was the 'novelad' of yesterday. It is a splendid move The Board say they can get all the capital for the work without any guarantee, and only require the permission of Congress to carry it out.

The news from Montevideo is that things are looking bluer and bluer there every hour. There was a stormy debate in the Deputies on Wednesday night in reference to the Santos—Fein affair, and the note of the Superior Tribunal was sent back to it. President Vidal refuses to accept Colonel Santos's resignation, but the latter has gone off to his quinta at Paso Molino. Judge Fein now says that he will fight Santos, but it must be in Argentine territory. Great agitation in Montevideo, and a row and Dictatorship talked of.

The Public Works Committee of the Provincial Chamber of Deputies advises the rejection of the proposal of Messrs McInnes & Co. to lay down a railway from Azul to Bahia Blanca, on the ground that it does not fulfill the conditions of the General Railway Law. We should say that this defect can be easily remedied.

Every seat in the Colon Theatre was sold for last night's performance. Madlle. Borghi-Mamo and her father visited President and Mrs Roca on Tuesday, having brought a letter of introduction to H.E. from Viscount Januario, the distinguished Portuguese statesman who was here some time ago.

The Republica says that Dr Romero's Forced Currency Abolition Bill will be very short—only four or five articles. This in itself is most promising, as verbiage and long-windedness are the plague spot on all public documents in this eloquent land. Something short, sharp and decisive will be a decided refresher.

The great discovery announced yesterday has made shareholders in Gas Companies feel rather bilious, and we had numerous further enquiries on the subject yesterday. We know nothing beyond what we published. It has been plain enough for a long time that Electricity is destined to supersede gas as railways did mail coaches, without making horses worthless, as was predicted. Gas will never be worthless, although Electricity will perhaps give it a far harder knock on the head than the locomotive did to horses.

Messrs Hartmann & Co. have now got a superb concert piano on view. Its tone and volume of sound are something quiet phenomenal.

The Santos 'escandre' in Montevideo gave rise to much comment yesterday. Everybody applauded Judge Fein for refusing to give the fire-eating Colonel an opportunity of to send him to his grave, but late telegrams say he is now going to fight.

It is announced that the Provincial Finance Minister has his Budget for 1882 already prepared. As well as we remember, the Constitution lays down that the Budget must be laid before the house yearly within two months after the opening of the session. Sr Uriburu is the only Finance Minister that has ever shown respect for this provision of the Constitution, and the fact speaks highly for him.

The financial leader in the Nacion yesterday was one of the best of the splendid series of articles on the subject of financial reform which it is now publishing. The project for abolishing Forced Currency is both sound and feasible. The writer ought to be a Finance Minister. Perhaps he has been ere now, and may be again. In any case, he is evidently a master of that business.

The mails from Chile report that the work of demolishing the formidable fortifications of Callao with dynamite is now completed. Tremendous destruction was caused in Valdivia on the 26th ult. by a furious hurricane that swept over that province.

Messrs. Rivolta and Carboni are building several life-boats for the National Government, on the English model, unsinkable, with double bottom and air chambers, 12 oars, and capable of saving 14 people each.

The Minister of War has knocked the long-pending project to establish a floating market in the Outer Roads on the head. H.E. says it would afford a far too tempting opportunity for smuggling, and we are inclined to think he is right.

An Alhambra, on the London model, is about to be built in Calle Cuyo, and 'all sorts' of entertainments will be given in it. What is the difference between an Alcazar and an Alhambra?

We are deeply grieved to announce two sudden deaths in the Editoral Bus—El Parlamento and the Opinion Nacional. Some others of the passengers are looking poorly.

The Republica gives the number of a house in Calle Parque where they make delicious bogus champagne. Bad brandy, worse soda water and any kind of sugar are the ingredients of this delectable beverage, which is just the thing to give poor relations and undesirable friends whenever they invite themselves to dinner.

The intended marriage of Mr Fabian Gomez with Marshal Serrano's daughter is said to be broken off.

A morning colleague naively remarked yesterday morning that he would reserve his opinion on the performance of Poliuto at the Colon Theatre until he had seen it 'Hombre!' We call this a 'bull' at home.

Mercedes has been in a state of much excitement owing to the arrest of a resident on suspicion of having poisoned his wife, but the post-mortem showed that the lady had died of apoplexy.

The Courrier says that the Provincial Government will go to Belgrano provisionally, till the new capital for the province is selected. This is most likely.

Some British residents intend dining together on the 24th, to drink health and long life to Her Majesty on the anniversary of her birth. 'So say we all of us.'

The Continental Exhibition is beginning to take shape at last, The National Government has lent half the Plaza Once to the Committee whereon to build their Palace of Industry. Half a loaf is better than no bread, but in this case the whole 'pan' would be better.

The Pampa very properly remarks that Argentine posterity will hold General Roca's Administration in high honour and admiration for rejecting the forced currency powers which so many of our wiseacres in amateur finance seem anxious to thrust upon it, and which other Governments would be only too happy to seize, as a hungry wolf pounces on the fold.

Ruy Blas will be given at the Colon Theatre to-morrow night.

The Governor of Entre Rios has just commuted the sentence of death passed unanimously by the lower and upper courts of that province on a policeman named Falcon for murdering an old man in the most awfully ferocious way. Here is the old story. What would the Governor have done if poor MacDonald and Guthrie had been slaughtered in his province, as at first supposed? We hope Governor Gallino of Corrientes is made of different stuff, or the 'manes' of our unfortunate countrymen have a poor chance of being avenged.

Thirty-eight newly-arrived Welsh emigrants started yesterday for the Chubut Colony in the schooner Gwenllian. Forty more Welshmen are shortly expected out for the colony, which is going ahead splendidly.

Another attempt was made on Thursday to dispose of some of the Cedulas stolen from Don Juan M Estrada some two years ago. A schoolmaster entered an exchange shop in Calle San Martin and gave the numbers of three Cedulas he wished sold. The 'cambista' took down the numbers, and sent his clerk over to the Bank with the pedagogue to see if the numbers were genuine. They turned out to be Mr. Estrada's numbers, and the instructor of youth was requested to step down to the Policia. He there declared that he had never owned a Cedula in his life (but devoutly wished he had been so fortunate) but an 'individuo' he did not know called at his college in the morning and offered him a commission for selling the stock, also that the man was waiting for him round the corner. A policeman at once shipped round the corner, but the fox had 'gone away.'

Patacons	28.65
Cedulas A	97½
National Bank Shares	93½
Treasury Bills	6 prom.
National Bonds 1883	90
Roads and Bridges	100

The gold market opened this morning very firm at 28.70 cash, but closed at 28.65; only 30,500 pats sold cash and for end of month 263,000 pats., opening at 28.65, rising to 28.70 and closing at 28.65. For June prices opened at 28.45 and closed at 28.40. But the whole day's business was but a small affair, only 528,300 pats sold.

The gold market, spite of all the efforts of the bulls, has a weak tendency, and is merely maintained by the ring speculation requirements. The whole market hangs on a Paris telegram; money is so cheap in Europe, the credit of the country so good, and the price at which the loan was contracted for so reasonable that it is not probable any difficulties created by opposing bankers will succeed; nevertheless the business has certainly hung fire long enough, and it is to be hoped that the Minister of Hacienda will push the matter to have no further delay.

Cedulas are fast marching on to par and rose to-day to 97½, at which price 34,000 bought, and more buyers offering. The stock is regarded the best and most convenient to hold ready money in.

Nat. Bank shares were heard strongly for cash, but did not give away an inch, 583 shares sold cash. For the end of the month only 100 sold at 93½, and for end of June 900 at 94½; speculators are evidently afraid to sell, although the stock is by no means as buoyant as it was, but the weight of the month's liquidation hangs on the stock, and when this is removed we may look for further progress in so extremely speculative a security.

Nat. Treasury notes sold at 6 premium, and one large lot offered, but the holder has the temerity to ask 35 premium. Also in Nat. Bonds we note some small sale at very low price, and it is said amongst the brokers that these small sales are merely to establish quotations, 1000 sold at 90.

Roads and Bridges have at last touched PAR for the first time in their history; the stock, when first issued, had to get 8 per cent coupons attached to launch it at all. It is now at par, and very few of the principal holders in this market would sell under 5 per cent premium.

The news from Havre to-day will be found in our telegram; as usual it is most unfavorable and throws a fresh damper over a very damp market.

The gold market ruled less firm at after hours, still in prices there is no perceptible difference. It is known on 'Change, however, that the National Government people, the Provincial Government people, and the Provincial Bank people have all put their shoulders to the wheel to abolish 'curso forsoso'; meetings every day for the last three days have been held at the Government House. To-day all the notables were for 3 hours at the Nat. Government House, and there is really no mistaking these efforts, hence it is that what over the immediate necessities of the month's gold liquidation may be, gold on time rules weaker than ever. There was a rumour on 'Change that the National Government has received offers by telegram from a great London house to supply all the gold required to abolish 'curso forsoso'; we give the rumour for what it is worth. Respecting the Railway Loan in Paris there is still some hitch, and not a word about the signing of "THAT GREAT BOND WHICH KEEPS US PALE".

They say that some old reclamations arising out of the Public Works Loan have to be settled before the Stock Exchange allows a quotation; no doubt the claims will all be settled, but the matter takes time and the Stock Exchange is despotic. The Comptoir d'Escompte says to Mr Balcarce—

"I WOULD I HAD YOUR BOND",

but the Minister will sign nothing until all difficulties removed.

Cedulas jumped at afternoons and closed buyers 98½, few sellers, all Change says they are good for par. Many buyers on time, it being impossible to get them cash without still further advancing prices.

Mr Gabrielli, the renowned contractor, arrived up this morning; he comes in the very nick of time, and his high reputation as hydraulic contractor has come before him, he has just completed the water works in Rio, at a cost of 2 millions sterling, and if he takes in hands our city works, he will doubtless finish them to every satisfaction; we salute him on his arrival at the Plate.

Captain Howard, of the Vermejo, has been ordered to Bahia Blanca and San Blas to survey both ports.

Exchange shows no change, one of the banks took a large amount at 5.18. Bills on London 48¾-¼. Paris 5.16. Antwerp 5.18.

Nat. Bank shares firm, at afterhours 93¾ end month, 94½ end June.

The next mail is the Gironde on 24th. The Halley sails on 21st.

The Bassel engaged to-day 1200 bales for Antwerp at 25s and 10 per cent.

Baltar and Quesada's was the great centre of attraction to-day, and another of those trifles light as air occurred which speak more eloquently than the trumpet tongued auctioneer. Three leagues of prime estancia land at Tres Arroyos sold for 160,000 m/c per league; Mr Denicke, the leading gold and exchange broker, buyer. This is the third broker who within the last month has bought estancia lands near Bahia Blanca.

Also 3 leagues of prime land at Sauce Corto, sold for 121,000 m/c, Dn J. Castro buyer.

Valdez's cattle, 1400 head al corte, knocked down after the most spirited bidding to Mr Magrevor at 272 m/c al corte, perhaps the highest price ever paid in this city for cattle al corte. Had the auctioneer 20,000 more head to sell there were buyers for all and at same figure.

Very good news from London was spoken of, also from New York, hides better.

Aust. brig Faraco, loading in the Boca for Marseilles.

An English engineer has favored us with the following—

"The Wolverhampton Corporation have made a profit upon their Water Works last year of £4,292 upon a total income of £40,000. Showing an increase over last year of £441. Since the property was purchased by the corporation, 13 years ago, the total profits have amounted to £10,652 stg. The population of Wolverhampton in 1871 was under 70,000 inhabitants. Buenos Aires at this rate would be making a profit of about one million $m/c per annum, if the works were only finished, and finished properly.

We received to-day a letter from the Sauco Corto. They have started a diligence running to Azul, which is a move in the right direction; our correspondent says:—"The camps down here are splendid, and although there is generally speaking no great scarcity of water still a good downpour of rain would do a deal of good; sheep are lambing everywhere, and a large increase is expected, and no doubt these hopes will be realised if we have no very severe weather during the next month or so. Houses are being put up on all sides, and they are as a rule made of bricks and not of mud as formerly; in fact so rapidly are the camps being 'poblado' down here that these lands are now being talked of as inside ones". This bears out what all along we are telling our readers; the growth of the country down in the far South is simply wonderful, and we hear of an English merchant who last year bought very cheap some land facing on the Rio Colorado; to-day he has been offered four times what it cost him and declines to sell. We approve of his judgment and adyise him to buy more.

The bids for the Riachuelo terraplen, 9,600 cubic metres, will be opened to-morrow at 12 o'clock; the contract is worth looking after.

The str. Bessel, we understand, has brought £30,000 sovs. to the Plate, at least so it is stated in London papers, and we note that the previous week in London another £30,000 sovs. were withdrawn from the Bank for the Plate, but nothing whatever was said of their arrival here.

The Isaguirre land on the Flores Road was sold at auction the other day fetching 10 m/c per square vara, but only a very small bit, 17½ varas front by 65 varas depth, which is even too small for a decent quinta.

MALTINE.

(Extract of Malted Barley, Wheat and Oats.)

The Original and only Preparation Composed of these three Cereals

MALTINE is a highly concentrated extract of malted Barley, malted Wheat, and malted Oats, containing, undiminished and unimpaired, all the nutritious principles that can be extracted from these cereals. By the most carefully conducted scientific process we are enabled to offer a perfect article, possessing five to ten times the beneficial and nutritive merit of any alcoholic or fermented Extract of Malt.

"WHEAT and OATS are especially rich in muscular and fat-producing elements."
—Liebig.

MALTINE will increase both weight and flesh in most persons of thin habit.

MALTINE is particularly recommended for delicate Females and for weak and debilitated Children and Infants.

For Deficient Lactation, and for Mothers whilst Nursing, MALTINE is especially recommended.

MALTINE is the most important combination for use in Constipation.

MALTINE is entirely free from all products of Fermentation, such as Alcohol and Carbonic Acid Gas.

MALTINE is very palatable and pleasant, and will be readily taken by the youngest child.

THE COMPOUNDS OF MALTINE

Can undoubtedly be used with greater success than any other remedy now known in cases of General and Nervous Debility, Indigestion, Imperfect Nutrition, and Deficient Lactation; Cholera Infantum and Wasting Diseases of Children and Adults; Convalescence from Fevers, and whenever it is necessary to increase the vital forces and build up the system.

For Consumption and Wasting Diseases.

MALTINE with Cod Liver Oil—The most perfect emulsion and most agreeable and effective mode of administering this nauseous but valuable Oil yet discovered.

MALTINE with Hypophosphites—This preparation is specially indicated in Consumption, Rickets, and deficient Ossification.

MALTO-YERBINE.—A most palatable and efficacious remedy and substitute for Cod Liver Oil in the treatment of Consumption and Wasting Diseases; also the most perfect remedy yet produced in Chronic Pulmonary Affections, Coughs and Colds.

Agents——A. EASTMAN & CO, Buenos Aires.

Importantisimo, leer esto

La practica nos ha enseñado, como asi mismo las indicaciones de nuestra amistosa clientela, que no debe lanzarse a remate ninguna propiedad de cuya bondad de titulos no tengamos la casi confianza y seguridad absoluta, por cuya razon hemos trabajado mas de dos meses hasta reunir toda la documentacion necesaria para presentar en venta esta zona importante de tierra, sin que los interesados tengan necesidad a pedir datos.

Hemos impreso un folleto, que contiene; 1º El plano de Santa Fe y su vecina Santiago del Estero. 2º El informe del Gobernador de la Provincia, declarando "ser propiedad de los Canepa el campo a venderse, acompañando copia legalizada de la ley que autoriza la venta y reconociendo es el derecho a su enagenacion. 3º Carta del Señor Obligado que ha recorrido los campos durante ances) determinando su ubicacion, buena calidad, ventajas de su adquisicion, condiciones, etc. etc. 4º Planos del campo a venderse, con determinacion de lotes y la ubicacion de todas las importantes colonias con que se avecinan 5º Nomina de los linderos y establecimientos importantes inmediatos. 6º Informe escrito del estudio hecho de todos los documentos y titulos por el acreditado escribano Sr. D. Victoriano Cabral, que los declara inmejorables; y finalmente todo lo pertinente al conocimiento de lo que debe adquirirse.

Este folleto, ass como las entradas para el lunch, se entregaran en nuestra casa a las personas que se dignen venir a solicitarlo.

Pormenores

Estos campos distan solo 5 leguas de las colonias Sanchales y Espin [suizo] y 7 o 10 de las estancias de Escalada, Ramayon, Coronel Obligado y hermano, Dr Pedro Palacios, Banc de Londres, Coronel Lacueva, Coronel Jabson. Lindan a mas con los Srs W Paste y Ca, Dr Lawsen, Meyer, Ozoiza, Duchiwitz, Altgelt, Napp, Loissoau, Bonorme, Newton, Malhell y otros, que adquieren en la misma forma hacen diez años.

La traza del ferro carril de Santa Fe a Santiago, cruza estos campos y se radicara una o dos estaciones en ellas.

Con la base fijada, no se habran puesto en venta campos mas baratos y si se habran adquirido jamas mejores como calidad, pues el Sr Coronel Obligado dice en su informe que son SUPERIORES a los del Sud de Cordoba y a los del Departamento del Rosario.

Hay campo linderos, que se han vendido (y mostraremos el certificado) a 3000 $fts. la legua.

En la colonia Espin, donde existen mas de 150 familias fundada por el Sr Benitez, se venden las concesiones a 200 $fts de solo 20 cuadras, luego la legua ha producido ya mil onzas de oro, en 80 concesiones.

Los campos estan mensurados judicialmente perfectamente amojonados con grandes postes de nandubay.

Hoy dia, la casa bancaria de los Srs Murrieta en Londres, esta recibiendo los campos del Chaco, del Gobierno de Santa Fe, en pago del empresti o razon de 1600 $f. por legua, y estos son superiores y mas cerca de la capital.

Para terminar: la familia Canepa, es propietaria en el Rosario y esto redobla la garantia.

Public securities were flat yesterday, and a decline occurred in English and American railways and many of the foreign bonds. Among the latter, Greek and Turkish were chiefly sold. On the other hand, Egyptian and Italian improved. Consols were steady. On balance £245,000 in gold was taken to the Bank.

STATE OF IRELAND.

A meeting attended by several thousand people assembled in Strabane to-day, to hear an address on the Land Bill by Mr. John Dillon, M.P. Mr. Dillon, who was well received, said the rentals in many of the estates in Ulster were far above what the land was really worth, and what they required was some measure that would give the tenant farmers an opportunity of reducing the rents on all the estates down to the lowest reated ones. Referring to the small farmers in Donegal, he said that any Bill which proposed to settle the Land Question must wipe out their arrears of rent, and give these poor people a chance of starting again in life. During the last two days' travelling in Donegal, he had been struck with the persevering industry and the skill shown by the small farmers in deriving a living from land which in any other country in the world would be left uncultivated altogether. No Land Bill would be satisfactory, and he would not consent to accept any Land Bill on behalf of the Irish farmers, which would not wipe out the arrears of rent of the poor tenantry of Donegal, Mayo, Galway and Clare, and the other counties where tenants are in arrears, and if needs be compensate the landlords for this. The policy of the League had been to advise the farmers to organize themselves, not for the purpose of robbing the landlords, but to keep the landlords from robbing them. He did not advise them to say an unkind word to the landlords, or to adopt any attitude of insult or violence towards them, but that the system which kept the men of Ulster afraid of any master over them should cease for ever. The meeting was also addressed by Father Mulland, P.P. and Mr. Kennedy, J.P.

To-night's Gazette contains a proclamation placing the barony of Garrycastle under the provisions of the Protection of Life and Property Acts.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Land League to-day £398 subscriptions were announced. The chief business was the consideration of evictions and intended evictions.

The Lord-Lieutenant and Countess Cowper visited the Royal Dublin Society's Spring Show at the new premises, Ball's-bridge, to-day, and were presented with an address, in replying to which his Excellency said, 'It is very satisfactory that so full an exhibition should have been held at such a time as this, and that the disturbed relations between landlord and tenant which have prevailed in so many parts of Ireland have not interfered with your success. I am glad we have been able to keep the foot-and-mouth disease out of the country, I am sorry to say that pleuro-pneumonia still exists, Indeed the last returns show that there are more cases than either in the preceding week or in corresponding week of last year, but it is chiefly confined to Dublin, and its continuance may be easily accounted for by the unsatisfactory condition of many of the dairies, in which I sincerely hope a change for the better may speedily be made.'

At Armagh Quarter Sessions the president of the Monaghan Land League figured yesterday as a landlord evicting two small tenants for non-payment of a year's rent, and duly obtained decrees. The County Court judge, Mr Gamble, Q.C, referred to the contrast between the theory of the Land League doctrines and this practical proceeding, and the possibility that the tenants, who formerly paid their rent regularly, had been led away by the agitation, and put a stay of two months upon one of the decrees.

Mrs S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorre

The Genuine only in Pink Paper Wrappers.

It cannot fail to Restore Grey Hair to its youthful Colour, Gloss and Beauty.

IT IS NOT A DYE

It ever proves itself the natural strengthener of the Human Hair.

THERE are two special qualities which determine and fix the superiority and excellence of Mrs S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer :—First—its prompt quick action, and the new growth, life, and vigour that it is sure to give to the hair, never failing by a few applications to Restore Grey or White Hair to its Youthful Colour, imparting to the hair a delightful aroma, fresh, delicate, and unchangeable in any climate. Second—its easy application without any previous preparation of the hair; without that sticky and disagreeable sulphur odour found and complained in other preparations. It never stains the skin or linen. It retrains the hair in any desired position, and is cooling and cleaning to the scalp.

Use no other Preparations with it, not even Oil or Pomade or Zylo-Balsamum

To Restore Grey Hair, Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer is the best.

Because it is made from Choice Materials, and prepared with the utmost Care and Skill.

Because over Forty Years the Favourite Preparation, enjoying by far the Largest Sale, it must be the Best.

Because it Does Not Dye the Hair, but Strengthens it. Grey Hairs soon Disappear.

Because by its Gentle Tonic Action the Roots are strengthened—New Life, and Hair Natural Colour.

Because the Soft and Silky Texture of Healthy Hair follows its use.

THE HAIR

Its Beauty can be Restored and Preserved

"Beautiful Hair,
Nature's Crown, Luxuriant and Beautiful Hair."

It cannot truthfully be said that at any age, period, or condition of life the Hair can or should be allowed to take care of itself, and requires no aid to stimulate and maintain its growth.

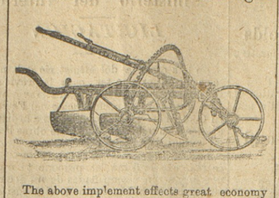
HOWARD'S CELEBRATED PLOUGHS

Howard's Double Plough.



The above implement effects great economy in the time and cost of ploughing, and its success has been very marked wherever it has been introduced. The depth of work can be regulated by the lever as the plough proceeds, and at the ends, the plough is lifted by the same lever clear off the ground.

The implement is so strongly constructed that in the hands of Kaffirs it cannot readily be injured.

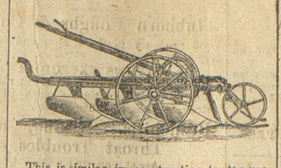
Howard's Triple Plough.



This is similar in construction to the preceding implement, but made to take three furrows. It may at once be converted into a Double Plough by the removal of the hinder body, and this is sometimes desirable on ground where the draught is heavy.

Howard's Mealie Drill Plough

The marked succes of J. & F. HOWARD'S Multiple Ploughs has led to a great and increasing demand for these labour-saving implements.

In addition to the economy effected by their use in time and wages, their usefulness has been materially increased by the addition of a simple drill which deposits the seed in the middle furrow, where it is immediately covered with the earth raised by the next plough share.

By this means the cost of sowing is avoided, and no seed is wasted by being exposed to birds or vermin, nor is it trodden by the draught cattle. The seed is moreover sown at a uniform width and depth, and thus a regular growth of the crop is insured.

Dysentery, Cholera, Fever, Ague, Coughs, Colds, &c.

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
(Ex Army Medical Staff)
CHLORODYNE
IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean, no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diptheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitations and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis &c.

Extracts from Medical Opinions.

The Right Hon Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and to any service in Cholera was Chlorodyne. See Lancet, Dec. 31st, 1864.

From A. Montgomery, Esq. late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay. 'Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, fater eighteen months' severe suffering, and when other remedies had failed.

Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports (December 1865) that in nearly every case of Cholera in which Dr. J. Collin Browne's Chlorodyne was administered, the patient recovered.

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera. 'So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases.

See leading article, Pharmaceutical Journal, August 1st, 1860, which states that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the inventor of Chlorodyne, that it is always right to use his preparation when Chlorodyne is ordered.

CAUTION. None genuine without the words 'Dr. J. Collis Browne' on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
